WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT: YOUTH ECOLOGY CORPS

TAP INTO WATER INDUSTRY JOB OPPORTUNITIES

Eastern Municipal Water District (EMWD), in partnership with the Riverside County Workforce Development Board and the California Family Life Center, offers young adults (18-24 years) the opportunity to tap into water industry jobs with its Youth Ecology Corps (YEC) workforce development program. This program provides short-term job opportunities to area youth who are interested in exploring careers in the water industry and related fields.

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

Throughout the 12-week program, associates will perform a wide variety of routine and challenging tasks in support of their assigned workgroup while also attending EMWD's on-site professional development workshops to gain insights into EMWD and the water industry as a whole. Participants will tour EMWD's vast array of facilities for an up-close view of the complexities of our vital community infrastructure, including our water filtration plants, water reclamation facilities, and water desalination complex. Professional development workshops include: enhancing resume and cover letter writing skills; practicing networking and public speaking; learning business ethics; and taking part in EMWD's Cal/VPP STAR Certified Safety Program.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES

EMWD places participants in positions across the organization based on current department needs and youth interests. Typical placements include office associates in Engineering; Energy Management; Development Services; Engineering Services; Education; Public and Governmental Affairs; and Records Management.

APPLICATION PROCESS

We understand that finding the perfect career can be both exciting and overwhelming. With many different paths to choose from and education, training, and certification requirements that vary by region, it's hard to know where to start. Youth Ecology Corps is here to help! If you are looking for an opportunity to test the waters, learn new skills, and challenge yourself all while growing your resume, then we invite you to apply online today by visiting the California Family Life Center at cflckids.org or by phone at 951.765.9671.

QUALIFICATIONS

Associates in the Youth Ecology Corps program must be between the ages of 18 – 24 years old. Applicants must be referred to the program by the California Family Life Center. Applicants must be interviewed and accepted into the program by EMWD. After successfully completing the interview process, candidates must pass a background screening and drug/alcohol test. Once accepted into the program, associates must adhere to specific job requirements related to working schedule, location, transportation, and dress code. On the first paid workday of the program, associates must successfully complete EMWD's Cal/VPP STAR Certified Safety Training.

"Youth Ecology Corps was a beneficial and unique program that I had the opportunity to be a part of after graduating from college. Working in the water quality lab awarded me with hands-on training and showed me what qualities it takes to be a successful employee in the water industry."
